TIGERS FADED BEST

Led Organized Base Ball
Teams in Winning by 1 Run.

CAPTURED THIRTY-FOUR

Washington Team Won Twenty-Five
Games by Singe's Tally, Twenty.
Three Escaping.

BY ERNEST J. LANIGAN.

Detroit's Tigers faded best in winning games by one-run margins last season, leading all of organized ball's big league teams in this respect. A single score decided almost a third of the battles fought in the American and the National, one more game of this kind being played in the senior organization than in the junior. The Yanks batted their way into the lead, the Red Sox and Eddie Murphy of the White Sox, Dan Boone of the Yanks and Bill Wambsganss of the Indians gave the locals contests by mutual mistakes.

Shawkey of the Indians had a winning run in four of Washington's one-run triumphs. Clyde Milan produced the plateau that meant victory on three occasions. Sid Arnold, Gandy Walker, Williams, two others, and the men each responded once in time of need: Williams, Tenry, Acosta, McBride, Morgan and Horace Milan. The one-run victories of the Nationals last season are given below:
